

Key Guidance On Hedge Fund Investing

Advice and Best Practices for Investors and Fiduciaries

WEBINAR EVENT - MAY 2008

Tuesday — May 13th — 11:30 A.M. CENTRAL

Please join us for this complimentary online seminar for investors and fiduciaries (such as financial advisers and plan trustees, banks, consultants and other investment professionals).

Seldom will investors and fiduciaries be so fortunate as to receive the guidance contained in the Report of the Investors' Committee to the President's Working Group on Financial Markets, Principles and Best Practices for Hedge Fund Investors. Comprised of representatives from institutional investors, pension funds and labor unions, the Committee reports and issues best practices for what has become a two trillion dollar asset industry worldwide.

James Eccleston will highlight the Committee's key advice to both investors and fiduciaries, including:

- Whether to invest client assets in hedge funds, considering risk-reward and diversification
- How to determine which hedge funds to invest in, focusing on due diligence (initially and ongoing), risk management practices of the fund, the legal structure of the fund, the valuation process, fees and expenses, transparency and reporting practices and tax consequences.
